"This toleration of polygamous living means the toleration of polygamy, the toleration of adultery, with religious sanction. Acknowledging, as we may, that the majority of the people of Utah do not dare to do other than acquiesce, that Senator Smoot has acquiesced, is no reason why the people of the Nation should acquiesce. Senator Knox calls upon us to let polygamous living alone and to call our being so satisfied as no more than religious toleration.

"Reed Smoot is in harmony with the quorum to which he is subject when he acquiesces in the continuation of this crime against God and man; but can it be possible that Senator Knox is in harmony with his constituency in Pennsylvania, in harmony with the moral and religious will of the people of the United States, when he becomes the devil's advocate before the Senate of the United States and makes a plea for the religious toleration of polygamous living, as he did?'

Strange to say, the thief left $200 in sliver in a trunk in the room, as well as $50 in gold and $15 in currency in the purse from which the money was taken. The fewslry and money were discovered in the room of the McCalb woman by Detective Joe Burt about two hours after the arrest, hidden under a chair.

But three men were arrested for drunkenness from midnight Saturday until midnight Sunday. This is the smallest number of Sunday drunks that have been taken in custody for several months. During the day men could be seen wandering, singly and in groups, from saloon city was closed tight during the day.

by Vice-President Fairbanks, Smoot, Senators Burrows and Dubois followed Dr. Paden in a brief address. Both speakers were loudly applauded. It was a notable demonstration.

The Smoot case will come up in the Senate on Tuesday. Monday will be given over to the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. Most of the debate Wednesday will be limited to brief speeches. At this time the doubtful element in the Senate-those Senators who are waiting to hear the closing arguments-is large enough to determine the fate of the apostle Sena-

The Smoot adherents are loud in their claims of victory. They are classing Senators Patterson and Newlands as recruits, although their claims are said to be unfounded. A forecast in the present unsettled state of the senatorial mind would be purely speculative and profitless.

Final Argument by Burrows.

Mr. Burrows will make an extended speech on the constitutional and legal phases, that is likely to have a marked effect. Senator Teller has been counted upon to make a speech for Smoot, but has sent a request to the sergeant-atarms to arrange a pair. He is too ill to come to the Senate again this session and will go to Arizona as soon as he is able to travel. He is in a very serious condition.

The Smoot bureau is at work in the closing hours of the fight. A local newspaper prints a three-column story today ascribed to Gov. Cutler, attacking ex-Senator Kearns and arguing that Smoot ought to retain his seat. There are other evidences that a publicity bureau is trying to bolster up the Smoot cause in its last extremity by misleading Senators as to the true con

Knox Roundly Scored.

Dr. Paden devoted most of his speech to reviewing the minority report submitted to the Senate in the Smoot case, and declared the stand taken by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania was nothing more nor less than a plea to the American people to acquiesce in the polygamous practices in Utah.

Dr. Paden presented the Gentiles side of the Mormon controversy, declaring the law-abiding citizens of Utah will take the Senate's action, if Senator Smoot is allowed to retain his seat, as side of the Mormon controversy, declar-

It is hoped that the high price of mutton and a stiff wool market—aided by warm weather from this time on—will help them out, however, and that the money loaners will give them a chance to get on their feet again.

The law was defective, he said, in that it makes no provision against the crime of polygamous living. "No law against polygamy is worth the paper on which it is written," continued the speaker, "unless it also deals with polygamous cohabitation. The truth is had enough—and I have given you the facts.

"I shall return to Montana in three or four weeks at most, and hope by that Dr. Paden commended the Edmunds-Tucker act as the only law which ever made polygamous living a crime to be prosecuted and "not to be acquiesced in or tolerated." Thousands of cases were prosecuted successfully in the Utah courts, he declared, when these laws were being enforced by the Government, and they were the direct cause of "bringing the polygamists to their knees in 1890, when the church capitu-lated and made unconditional surren-der."

MAJOR PETTIGREW ON MUNICIPAL CONVENTION

He Thinks it a Great Thing for Utah: Discusses Some Points.

W. H. Petrigrew, Mayor of Nephil, one of the charter members of the Municipal League of Utah organized here on Saturday, seen by a Tribune representative since the close of the convention, talked freely and most optimistically of the plans and scope of the Municipal league. "The object of the league," Mr. Pettigrew said, "is to bring the officers of the clies of Utah closer together, to become acquainted with each other and formulate and adopt a uniform code of ordinances, as near as possible, for the betterment and purification of municipal government throughout the State. The organization is strictly non-partisan, and based on sound business principles, as it is, it is our hope and belief that great good will be accomplished in municipal government by all the cities working in unison along sclentific business and economic lines. In this way each city will be the beneficiary of the best in all.

"All city, town and village officers in the State are elligible to membership in the league. The exact amount of the initiation fee, nominal in amount, will be fixed at each annual convention." The cities of the third class. Mr. Pettigrew says: "will profit more largely than any others by the league. A greatmany of these cities are putting in electric power and light, and are projecting street pavements, bridges, culverts and many other necessary improvements, and through the league any mistakes that have been made in the character and quality of this kind of work, or where money has been unnecessarily expended in making these improvements to make. "Nephi was chosen as the city for holding the next annual convention, the time for bolding which was left to be determined by the officers of the league.

"There was quite a spirited contest for the place of holding the next meeting. Four cities contested for the distinction, Provo, Nephil, Brigham City and Logan. And you may say that I feel exceedingly well pleased at the distinction which fell to Nephi. We were the smallest municipality that entered into the contest. I thought at first we stood no show, but when Logan withdrew, things came our way, and, well Nephi got there. I predict a great gathering at our next annual meeting, and I say of a truth and with full assurance, that the visitors will be royally entertained by the hospitable people of Nephi, the little Chicago of Utah."

"It is such folly that men will sing with intense and decay in all around I see. Oh Thou who cannest men will be such as the subject to the subject to the canness of success and its accumulations, when the truth is that the soul never grips the supreme dignity so splendfully, never sees the true vision so perfectly as in the hours when things are swept away and man is thrust out upon the eternal things that heart-faith finds.

"It is such folly that men will sing with intense earnestness:

""Change and decay in all around I see. Oh. Thou who cames not.

Abide with me and yet forget that God has furnished and helped us with the abiding for life's comfort and Joy in the things not seen of the spiritual which are eternal. The reality of spiritual things is being vouched anew in the world's most material age. If on the one hand men are saying that the spiritual is a shadow, on the other the very clamor of the soul's own assertions gives a denial to that assertion.

Tenders His Resignation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Writing from Omaha under date of February 14, Rev. E. Lawrence Hunt advised the officials of the Noble street Presbyterian church of Broolyn that he wished at once to sever his connection with that congregation. At a meeting today it was voted to comply with the wishes of Mr. Hunt. The church officials adopted a vote of confidence in Mr. Hunt. in which it was declared the unfortunate circumstances had placed the minister in a light that the officials believed was not warranted by the facts. The case of the pastor was officially referred to the Presbytery.

Rev. Hunt. came to the Noble street church in December, 1905. Recently the minister was named in divorce proceedings in which a verdict for the plaintiff was returned. In view of this decision he deemed it wise that his connection with the church should be severed.

At 2 p. m. Nichols's cancert band marched from its headquarters to the Woodmen's hall, and there met the members of Weber camp No. 74 of the Woodmen of the World and the degree team under the command of Capt. T. C. Morris. The organization then formed in line and marched to the residence of the deceased young man's parents. There the casket march to St. Joseph's Catholic church was started, the band playing funeral marches and dirges. Deceased was a member of the order and the Woodmen turned out to do honor to him in force. In the procession to the church was Nichols's band, the degree team, 100 members of the craft walking in pairs, and twelve carriages carrying the mourners and friends, followed by the hearse. At. St. Joseph's church the body was taken to the altar, the pall-bearers being members of the order under whose auspices, the funeral was conducted. The impressive ritual for the dead was given by Rev. Father John Ryan, after a solo was sung by Miss May Carter, and Father Lyan preached the sermon. The church was crowded with friends and mourners and after the services the body mourners and after the services was taken to Mountain View cometery and there interred under the ritual of the church, and also that of the Woodmen of the World. The mourners, his fraternal brothers, followed the remains on foot through the rain, and many carriages carrying friends and mourners followed the procession.

OGDEN, Feb. 17.—Mrs. W. S. O'Brien, wile of the manager of the Postal Telegraph company, who was seized with apoplexy last Friday evening, is in a very critical condition and is not expected to survive the night.

The case is a most distressful one. Mrs. O'Brien and her husband came to Ogden from McGregor, lown, two years ago, Mr. O'Brien coming to assume the local management of the Postal company. Both were musicians and for 25 years they have some together in churches, and were very popular members of the church circles here. They were both members of the choir of St. Joseph's church, and their children have been ornaments in local juvenile circles.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Rabbi Emil G. SERMON BY REV. DR. PERKINS

Deals With Familiar Biblical Phrase Being Something of a Paradxo

hose of the world at St. Paul's church morning, the Rev. termed an interesting paradox in of the former, and incidentally the practice of teleration. T was taken from St. Matthew the sayings of Christ. Our text is one of them. It is only capable of being understood from a thorough reading of the context in which it is found.

The angels heraided Christ's birth with glad tidings of good will and peace. The prophets proclaimed Him as the Prince of Peace. St. Peter was rebuked by Him when he took up the sword against their common enemies. And now He tells them that He is come to send a sword and not peace on earth.

What is this sword? It is another name for the conflict of Christ's principles with the principles of the world. Perhaps this conflict is not so evident today as 4t was in the early ages of the Christian church. But, nevertheless, it is being waged today. Sometimes it is open, sometimes it is overt warfare.

The early persecutions were more or less open. Disciples were martyred. Their bodies were made to light the city of the Caesars. Wild beasts in the azena tore them to pieces. The spirit of the world would not have the spirit of the World would not have the spirit of the World would not have the spirit of the Christ to rule over it.

The Master had told them not to fear. Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness sake, for their's is the kingdom of heaven. A church father caught up this spirit when he made first use of the phrase. The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.

These physical persecutions have passed away. Only once in a great while is there an uprising against the Christians in heathen lands. The spirit of persecution has passed out of our land. This brute force never proved anything. The desire to persecute is not american in any sense of the word. There is no spot on earth where men are more free to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience.

Affet yet I am inclined to think that by tomorrow and certainly before the end of this week many persons in our midst will find comfort in the saying. "Blessed are they that are persecuted for rightening. It will take a sword in our own hearts to bring peace that will be peace, in
